

A Glimpse Of Guam--Sore Spot Of Pacific

The little island of Guam has sprung into the spotlight as result of a proposal to fortify it. Because the island's neighbors are a group of Japanese mandated unfortified isles, and because, according to Tokyo, Guam would make a neat jumping off place for U. S. bombers, Japan has protested loudly against the proposed fortification. Top, is a view of the harbor and the tiny settlement. Below, right, is sign that greets all travelers. SIX INJURED IN
HEAD-ON CRASH

Collision On Route 30
Puts Men In Liverpool Hospital

A head-on collision of two automobiles on Route 30, near the Buckeye club, north of East Liverpool, Sunday afternoon put six men in the East Liverpool City hospital.

However, none was seriously injured, Salem state highway patrolmen said, despite the fact that the cars were wrecked completely.

The crash occurred at 2:05 p. m. when a machine driven by Vernon Cryzer of East Liverpool slid on the wet pavement into the path of a car operated by Willard Pittenger, also of East Liverpool.

Pittenger, hurt the worst, suffered several fractured ribs and a severe cut on his right knee.

The others, who were cut, bruised and suffered from shock, included Cryzer, the other driver; Willis Bennett of Nashville, Tenn., and T. J. McFarland of East Liverpool, who were riding with Cryzer, and Norman McMilly and Donald Marshall of East Liverpool.

An unidentified motorist apparently escaped uninjured when his automobile struck a culvert on the Newgarden road, and turned over into a field, near the city limits, at noon Sunday.

John Birk of 711 Prospect st., told state patrolmen a passing car nicked a fender of his machine and forced him from the pavement on the Georgetown road yesterday.

A truck-trailer, driven by Sidney Gauthier of Detroit, overturned in a ditch on the Benton road Saturday night when the driver attempted to avoid collision with another car. Gauthier was not injured.

The trailer of a truck operated by Herbert Davis of Kent, Conn., rolled over into a ditch on Route 62, a quarter of a mile east of Alliance, Sunday afternoon when the truck pulled loose from the trailer after Davis had stopped to repair a tire.

Merchants and Buyers
Preparing for Bargain Event

February nears—bringing with it the knowledge that spring is nearer and also, highly important, Salem's semi-annual Opportunity Days.

The dates are February 3 and 4—Friday and Saturday of this week.

Opportunity Days are sponsored by the progressive merchants of the city who, for the past several weeks, have been looking forward to and making extensive preparations for the observance of this great sales event covering two days.

Shoppers of Salem, Columbiana, Leetonia, Washingtonville, Winona, Damascus, Lisbon, Greenford and other nearby communities also are looking forward to Opportunity Days, Friday and Saturday, awaiting the opportunity to share in merchandise values with which the term "Opportunity Days" has become synonymous.

Clerks and other workers throughout the stores are wearing ribbons these days—perhaps you've noticed them—reminding you that Opportunity Days are near. They are also cutting prices and piling up bargains in stores of all lines—awaiting your pleasure.

ing Among Different Faiths

Seeking "better understanding among representatives of the different faiths," delegates to the annual Ohio Pastors' convention and the Ohio Conference of Church Women gathered at Columbus today for interdenominational sessions ending Thursday.

Attending from Salem are Rev. R. D. Walker of the Presbyterian church, Rev. S. T. Magann of the Baptist church and Rev. C. F. Evans of the Christian church.

President John A. Mackay of Princeton Theological seminary at Princeton, N. J., and Bishop George E. Epp of Napperville, Ill., were the principal speakers on the joint session program opening the religious meetings.

Dr. B. P. Lamb, executive secretary of the Ohio Council of Churches, which sponsored both gatherings, said that "the theme of better understanding among representatives of the different faiths, in the face of a world-wide threat against all religions, will be emphasized in several sessions."

Snowstorm Lashes Northwest Area; Rains Subside In Lower State

A howling snowstorm lashed northwest Ohio today while down-state skies cleared after a weekend of heavy rain that sent some streams from their banks.

Toledo apparently was hardest hit by the near-blizzard.

Street cars there were derailed, automobiles stalled and trains and busses delayed. Streets were piled high in some places by drifting snow and two persons died from heart attacks attributed to the storm. The temperature was 29 at 8 a. m.

The state highway patrol warned of "very bad" road conditions between Port Clinton and Toledo and advised motorists to use state route 163 to Oak Harbor rather than the Bay Bridge route, on which motorists were reported tied up by the storm. The Lucas county township schools were closed.

The patrol said that its sub-station at Perrysburg was inoperative because of storm-caused power failure.

District Attorney Dewey Levels Accusations against U.S. Judge

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Representative Summers (D-Ill.) said today he had been advised officially that Judge Martin T. Manton of the federal circuit court of appeals had resigned.

Summers said he had received the word of Manton's move from "plenty of places" but he declined to say publicly what they were.

A few minutes before talking with reporters, Summers had conferred with Attorney General Murphy and Solicitor General Jackson in the supreme court chamber.

Murphy declined comment immediately.

PRIVATE POWER
CONCERNS LOSE
IN TVA ACTION

U.S. Supreme Court Turns
Back Challenge By 14 Companies

PROTESTS VOTED
BY TWO JUSTICES

Enables Government To Build Dams, Sell Surplus Power

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The Supreme Court turned back today a challenge by 14 private power companies of the constitutionality of the power program of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

In a decision delivered by Justice Roberts, the tribunal held that the utilities held no "standing to maintain the suit."

This decision enabled the government to continue construction of a series of dams in the Tennessee valley and sell surplus power produced.

Two Dissent
Justices Butler and McReynolds dissented, contending that the decision "goes too far."

Justice Reed did not participate in the decision. As solicitor general he had argued a previous TVA case before the tribunal.

Roberts asserted that "the vice of the position" taken by the power companies "is that neither their charters nor their local franchises involve the grant of a monopoly or confer competition illegal."

"The franchise to exist as a public utility, in the absence of a specific charter contract on the subject," the opinion continued, "creates no right to be free of competition, and affords the corporation no legal cause of complaint by reason of the state's subsequently authorizing another to enter and operate in the same field."

Competition Allowed

"The local franchises, while having elements of property, confer no contractual or property right to be free of competition either from individuals, other public utility corporations, or the state or municipality granting the franchise."

"The grantor may preclude itself by contract from initiating or permitting such a competition, but no contractual obligation is here asserted."

Roberts said that the federal district court "finds that the authority has not indulged in coercion, duress, fraud, or misrepresentation in procuring contracts with municipalities, cooperatives or other purchasers of power; has not acted with any malicious or malevolent motive; and has not conspired with municipalities or other purchasers of power."

The bill now goes back to the house, which was expected to disagree with senate removal of a 25 per cent limitation on WPA political activity. Disagreement will place the bill before a joint committee of representatives and senators for compromise.

The senate accepted a proposal by Senator Hatch (D-N.Y.) to make it illegal for anyone to give or withhold WPA jobs for political purposes.

The senate's real relief battle ended Friday when it rejected, 47 to 46, the President's $75,000,000 recommendation and accepted instead the $725,000,000 approved by its appropriations committee.

Vote "Too Close"

On the floor, Senator Bankhead (D-Ala.), generally recognized as an administration supporter already to support the bill, was expected to disagree with senate removal of a 25 per cent limitation on WPA political activity. Disagreement will place the bill before a joint committee of representatives and senators for compromise.

Not a Rebuff

On the other hand, New Deal stalwarts contended the action could not be taken as a rebuff to the White House or an indication of what congress might do throughout the next two years.

The senate late Saturday approved the relief measure, carrying a $725,000,000 appropriation to finance WPA operations from Feb. 7 to June 30. Mr. Roosevelt had asked $875,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Administration leaders and economy advocates were divided today on the political and legislative significance of the congressional revolt which cut down the President's relief recommendation.

Several anti-administration senators declared the $150,000,000 slash approved by both house and senate had widened the cleavage between Democratic factions and would assure at least a bitter fight on future spending proposals.

BY CHARLES S. FOLTZ, JR.
Associated Press Writer

PERPIGNAN, France, Jan. 30.—Pepito is only four, but he is one among the thousands who crossed mountains in rain and snow to escape the Spanish war, and he has a story to tell.

I came upon him last night at dusk at the foot of a giant peak. He had halted there with the seven other persons he accompanied from Spain.

He was not very clear about his last name. He was just Pepito. His mother died along the road. He was hungry or perhaps of a wound she had received in the head.

Pepito kept on.

The women he was with last night said they looked around and there he was, trudging along. When they sat down to rest, Pepito sat down, too.

They asked if he were lost.

No, he was not. He was just going to France.

So they brought him along.

Last night he did not know what he was going to do or where he was going.

He was just Pepito, he was only

The baby was well, apparently, when the mother was up at 5 a. m., but two hours later was found dead. She was born last Nov. 12.

Besides her parents, she leaves a brother, Clifford, Jr.; two grandfathers, Edward Hawkins of Salem, George Haynie of Vienna, and two great-grandfathers, Lewis Hawkins at home and Fred Schaffert of Youngstown.

Toothpick Lodged
In Heart Is Fatal

YOUNGSTOWN, Jan. 30.—A toothpick in his heart caused the death of Michael Fenske, 43, Sa. Elizabeth's hospital attendants said today.

Fenske was brought to the hospital a few weeks ago following several months illness. Peculiar bacteria in the blood stream defied identification.

Following his death last Thursday a postmortem was held and a toothpick found lodged on the right side of the heart. Physicians believed he swallowed it and it worked out of the digestive tract.

PLAN HOSPITAL
CARE INSURANCE

Hospital Trustees, Others, Working Out Local Program

Hospital care insurance will be available to residents of Salem and surrounding towns within the next few weeks, according to preliminary plans worked out by a committee formed at the request of the of the two Salem hospitals. An organization, to be known as the Associated Hospital Service, Inc., of Columbiana County, has been formed with James H. Wilson as president, Dr. Lea Cobbs as vice president, Atty. South Metzger as secretary and Leon H. Colley as treasurer.

The hospital insurance plan will be limited to groups of 10 as a minimum, being offered to the public on much the same basis as group life insurance. Miss Edith M. Walls of Cleveland, who has had considerable experience in organizing this work in other cities, will come to Salem March 15 to direct the organization here. She will have an assistant, to be selected soon, and will establish an office in the business section of the city.

Incorporation papers are now being filed, the plan of organization conforming to that of other organizations already engaged in hospital care insurance, particularly the Youngstown organization.

Incorporators are members of a committee representing the trustees of the two hospitals, their medical staffs, the county medical society and two at large.

Representing the trustees of the Central Clinic hospital are Dr. Gail A. Rose, Miss Leeta Gibson, and Dr. Lea A. Cobbs; Salem City hospital trustees, Leon H. Colley, Mrs. Esther Wilson, and Ralph W. Hawley; Central Clinic medical staff, Dr. Seward Harris of Lisbon; Salem City hospital staff, Dr. H. H. Bookwalter of Columbiana; Columbiana County Medical society, Dr. L. W. King; representing the public, James H. Wilson and South Metzger.

This committee has named an executive committee comprising President James Wilson, Miss Esther Wilson, South Metzger and Dr. Gail Rose.

NO MONOPOLY IN GOVERNMENT

A dual system of government—federal and state—is a theoretical safeguard against a monopoly of political authority in the United States.

Within the states, themselves, moreover, a division between state and local authority prevents political power from becoming exclusive.

Yet, because of neglect and financial dependence, the merits of the system have been sacrificed in many particulars to the insatiable urge for greater power which is characteristic of politicians.

Thomas Wallace, editor of The Louisville (Ky.) Times, told Ohio township trustees and clerks last week, local government by failing to fulfill the obligations of its sovereignty is losing ground to state government. It, in turn, by the same fault, is losing ground to federal government.

Editor Wallace has his finger on the gravest threat to self-government in America. That threat is not the inevitable trend toward centralization of authority, but failure of local and state government to resist the trend. They are losing a struggle to accept more and more responsibility and its capacious and well filled purse.

Here and there a local leader, aware of the danger, is trying to do something about it. Gov. Bricker, for instance, has made improvement in the efficiency of local and state government in Ohio a cardinal policy of his administration. Other governors are pounding on the same theme. To the extent that they find support, there will continue to be an effective guarantee against over-centralization of political authority.

LARYNGITIS

Much of Europe's current nervousness is related to the approach of Jan. 30—sixth anniversary of Adolf Hitler's supreme power in Germany.

A public address is expected. The reichsfuehrer may say something sensational, though anniversaries of the Nazi coup d'etat have been passed up as occasions for local shaking announcements so far.

Most of them have been spent in receiving and giving congratulations on what a fine thing the Hitler dictatorship has turned out to be. The day has been given over to a party celebration. Last year Hitler did not even speak.

With the world in its present state of nervousness, however, nothing can be taken for granted. The Nazi dictator will be watched closely for indications of what he intends to do next. If he wiggles his little finger in the direction of the Ukraine, strong men in Great Britain and France will crawl under their beds. If he were to pause suddenly and yell, "Boo," into the microphone, thousands of listeners would drop dead from fright.

It's a gigantic responsibility for Chancellor Hitler to bear. Under the circumstances he would be excused if he developed laryngitis. It would be excellent if the laryngitis thereafter turned out to be permanent and were to spread like wildfire into every country where orators are tempted to say something sensational.

NEW WRINKLE

Steam is being generated behind a proposal to boost revenue from the state sales tax by assigning value to tax coupons.

The weakness of the sales tax system is incomplete collection. The coupon, or receipt, which the merchant hands back theoretically prevents this, but only if the customer demands it.

If the customer demands his receipt, the merchant must turn in the money it represents. Therefore, if receipts can be made more important to customers, sales tax revenue should increase.

The Ohio Council of Retail Merchants suggests that the state redeem in cash, at three percent of their face value, any and all coupons. A feature of a bill containing this provision is that such redemption be made available mainly to non-profit charitable, religious, and educational organizations, as distinct from individuals.

Thus, there would be created a huge unofficial organization of persons with a material interest in helping Ohio to collect a maximum of revenue from the sales tax levy.

It is a practical idea. The practicality of the idea is the only question it raises. Payment of taxes is an obligation performed by the taxpayer to his government. A method whereby this obligation is made binding by private groups in the hope of gain, although not unprecedented, never has been tried on so large a scale before. It would be a new use of the power of pressure groups.

THE ISSUE IS JOINED

By one vote, the senate joins the issue of whether congress should go contrary to President Roosevelt on a question of prestige and carries the day.

The nominal issue was whether WPA should have $875,000,000, according to the administration, or $725,000,000, according to congressional moderates. By voting 47 to 46 for the lower sum the senate saved $150,000,000. The house had agreed to that figure previously.

The real issue, however, was one of prestige as between the executive and legislative branches. There is no reason to believe $725,000,000 will not be enough to meet bona fide WPA needs between now and next July, or that congress would not appropriate additional money if it proved inadequate.

It was not, in other words, a matter of relief, but of whether the senate would be high-pressed into giving Mr. Roosevelt what he wanted on command, particularly on a command which ran counter to congressional interest in curtailing government spending.

Democratic senators divided 41 to 26 on the vote, the smaller number representing perhaps the maximum strength of the moderates in the party. Twenty Republicans voted against the President; two supported him. One Farmer-Labor senator also opposed Mr. Roosevelt. Sen. Chavez, New Mexico Democrat, absent, would have voted against the President had he been present. His vote would have made a total of 48 for congressional independence against a total of 46 for executive domination.

THE STARS SAY:

For Tuesday, January 31

The excellent planetary configurations bearing rule on the affairs of this day unite to give very auspicious opportunities for reaching cherished objectives. These should come, not only by industry and practical details, but as well by the endorsement and substantial cooperation of elders, superiors and those in power or influential position. There may be bequests, insurance or increased values in old investments, but in any perplexities use strategem and tact.

Those whose birthday it is should find themselves confronted by a year of opportunity for attaining gratifying fulfillments. These may come through individual effort, good judgment and persistent application, and also by the benefices of elders, superiors and those in position to proffer them. Investments or old property interests may have substantial expansion. There are some hidden dangers to be wisely handled by tact and diplomacy with strategem rather than open hostility.

A child born on this day may be hard working, progressive, studious and dependable, attracting recognition from elders and superiors who will assist in its cherished ambitions.

ANYTHING CAN HAPPEN

NEW YORK, Jan. 30—Almost anything can happen in New York and frequently does and now it's a pert young lady who will tell you just exactly what she thinks of you—for a fee.

She is Mildred Aaron Angus. She's 24, blonde, a native New Yorker and a recent bride. The slogan of her "frank criticism service" is "the truth—even though it hurts," and it did a little, too, although your reporter always was a little skeptical of those striped socks.

Anyway, Miss Aaron, as she prefers to be known professionally, said today after taking a searching look at her interviewer, that she has more men customers than women.

She was interrupted with the irrelevant question as to just how she managed to get married if she practiced this frank criticism business with her husband. It seems he doesn't mind and she disclosed the family secret that she believes he's too conservative in his dress. She has bought him several neckties and he's wearing them, but then she's been married only a week.

Miss Aaron said criticism concerning dress is most sought after by both men and women. Women, though, she said, like to be flattered and so they go to their friends, where Miss Aaron says they don't get frank criticism.

Only one client, so far, has grown angry. That was a woman who believed her child talented, while Miss Aaron said she thought the child was a "brat." The mother, angry though she was, paid her fee.

Miss Aaron has one prize customer who talks too loudly and knows it. Miss Aaron accompanies this woman to dinner and to the theater and elsewhere and every time the client raises her voice, Miss Aaron tells her to hold it down.

NO, ONLY THE APPETIZERS!

Selection Draws Fire

Thomas R. Amle

Vigorous fight in the senate was projected by President Roosevelt when he named former Representative Thomas R. Amle, "lame duck" Wisconsin Progressive, for the six-year, $10,000-a-year term on the interstate commerce commission. Amle, 41, served three terms in the house, and was one of the extreme left wingers before his defeat in the senatorial primary last summer. He espoused such causes as a processing tax on industry and a constitutional amendment which would permit socialization of all forms of business enterprise.

Hospital Treatment Urged In Weight Cutting Program

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Reduction of overweight is best accomplished in a hospital where the diet can be carefully supervised. Some doctors of my acquaintance who have a large practice among overweight people will not attempt to treat them unless they enter a hospital. This is a difficult position and most people would rather remain the way they are or try to accomplish something by home treatment.

The trouble with home treatment for overweight is partly the doctor's fault, and partly the patient's. The patients are constantly tempted and break over. Where the doctor errs is in trying to carry out as strict a diet in the home as he would in the hospital.

A simple plan that works for the home reduction of overweight is that practiced by two St. Louis doctors. They do not try to force the patient to calculate a complicated system of diet, but they make their instructions very simple, as follows: The total caloric daily intake is about 1350 calories, divided into 350 calories at breakfast, 400 for luncheon and 600 for dinner. These are approximate estimations and no attempt is made at exactness.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Instructions

The patient is instructed thus: "For breakfast you can have a small orange or a half a grapefruit, or, in fact, any kind of fruit, two pieces of dry toast, and a cup of coffee with skimmed milk."

"For luncheon, you can have an egg or a lean meat sandwich, lettuce, cole slaw or radishes or celery, and a cup of tea or coffee."

"For dinner have an ordinary helping of anything that is served for dinner: for instance a piece of meat the size of an ordinary lamb chop; two slices of bread, a vegetable, a small piece of pie or jello, and a cup of tea or coffee."

"Fats, such as butter, cream, ice cream, and fat on meat and gravies are forbidden. Vinegar, salt and pepper may be used. Mineral oil should be used instead of olive oil in salad dressings. Water may be taken as desired, but beer, wine and soft drinks are prohibited."

Does the Job

This seems simple enough and easy for anyone to follow. Simple as it is, the method removed more than a ton, 2333 pounds of fat, from 76 women in four and a half months.

There was some additional treatment with extracts of the ductless glands and three types of obesity were recognized.

In overweight due to lowered function of the pituitary gland, the fat is distributed in the middle of the body especially. The abdomen and chest carry most of it, the extremities are tapering and the hands and feet small and slender. In overweight due to lowered function of the thyroid gland, the fat is generally distributed all over the body—legs, arms, hands, feet and neck all sharing.

The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks Reducing Diet", "Indigestion and Constipation", "Reducing and Gaining", "Infant Feeding", "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes", "Femine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin".

How to Ease CHEST COLD MISERY

FIRST—massage throat, chest, and back with Vicks VapoRub at bedtime. This relieves the distress.

THEN—to make its long-continued action last even longer, spread a thick layer of VapoRub on the chest and cover with a warm cloth.

LONG AFTER sleep comes, VapoRub keeps working—loosens phlegm—clears air-passages—eases coughing—relieves local congestion.

Often, by morning the worst of the cold is over.

MY LOVE IS NEW by IRIS BENNETT

The Darbys were loath to go and the Howards were loath to let them. It was past midnight when Constance drove back to Vine street with her parents beside her.

The bright new moon cast a silvery glow on the quiet, tree-lined street. The cool, clean air promised frost in the morning. Constance thought, "Last year at this time, just before Terry went back to the university, we took a ride on a night such as this. We didn't say anything for a long time. But our minds were perfectly attuned. It was a silvery night just like this. I remember how warm his lips were when he kissed me finally. I thought he'd never get around to kissing me and I wanted him so much. The warmth of his lips, the strength of his arms, the young vitality of him...."

The old roadster stopped noisily in the pebbled driveway. Ruth said, smiling, "I don't remember the last time we got in this late, Matt." Quietly they came to the front of the house and walked up the creaking porch steps.

But Constance paused, turned around, and looked once more at the moon in the cloudless sky. Her parents went in and switched on the lights.

Down the street she heard voices. Down the street! Two doors away! A porch light came on, revealing a Terry's bronzed head, taller than the heads of his parents. She heard Mary Cannon say, "I hate to see you drive back at this time of the night, dear." She heard Paul Cannon say, "Take care of yourself, son." Then she heard Terry say, "I'll be okay."

His car was not parked in front of the house. Then it must be in the garage and he would have to turn in her direction and he would see her....

Coming down the steps, she stood in the path by the cedar bushes, stood in the moonlight. Never had she stood so still....

He saw her the moment he stepped from the porch. His heart seemed to stop. And never had he stood so still because at first he could not believe it was she and when he knew, he thought he had never seen her so lovely. Constance, her hair radiant with moonlight in it....

He must be seeing things, he thought, frowning. A pain shot through him. What would she be doing standing on the lawn after midnight alone? Since the day of the storm he had not thought of her without seeing Keith with her. Now she was alone.... "Oh, God, haven't I been through enough!"

He moved slowly and then quickly to the garage. Constance, who was she there. Should he say something to her. "How are you? I'm fine, thanks." No, he couldn't! That was too much. She had been with Keith tonight. Couldn't blame Keith or going over the deep end over her. He'd been around a lot but he'd probably just left her.

He kept his eyes ahead as he brought the car from the garage. He wouldn't look at her. He wouldn't speak. Nothing to say, nothing to say when between you were only ashes of love....

Her heart in panic, Constance thought, "He hates me. Can I blame him? We won't even speak. Avis said that leaving Gordon was like dying. This is like dying, too, seeing Terry now. But I deserve it. In a moment he'll be gone...."

But she did not wait for the moment to pass in which Terry would be gone.

It was not a call but a desperate cry, "Terry! Terry!"

And the only people who were not sleeping soundly on Vine street that night were Ruth and Matt Darby and Mary and Paul Cannon. They heard that cry. And they stopped still and waited and hoped....

Terry pressed his foot on the brake. Oh, no, her voice, calling, calling him. His jaw sharpened. What did she want with him? Conscience still troubling her? Would she say, "Terry, I just wanted to know how you are. I hope you're as happy as I am. I hope you've found another girl to take my place." Oh, well, see her. Don't act like a sullen kid. See her and mutter words that won't mean anything while your heart hurts and you'll want to take her in your arms.

He pulled up the emergency brake and opened the car door.

Constance saw him walk slowly across the lawn to her, saw how tall and lean he was, saw that he was wearing a gray suit she had never seen before. She could not help it that her eyes filled with tears that spilled over her lashes. But she blinked them away quickly and wondered if she could speak.

Terry, walking across the lawn to her.... And suddenly she remembered them as children playing on this lawn in winter and summer. On a tree on his lawn he had carved her initials with his in a heart. All through the years he had loved her. Even as a little boy he had not looked at her shyly but boldly as if he did not care that the other children teased him about her....

He smiled when he stopped before her.

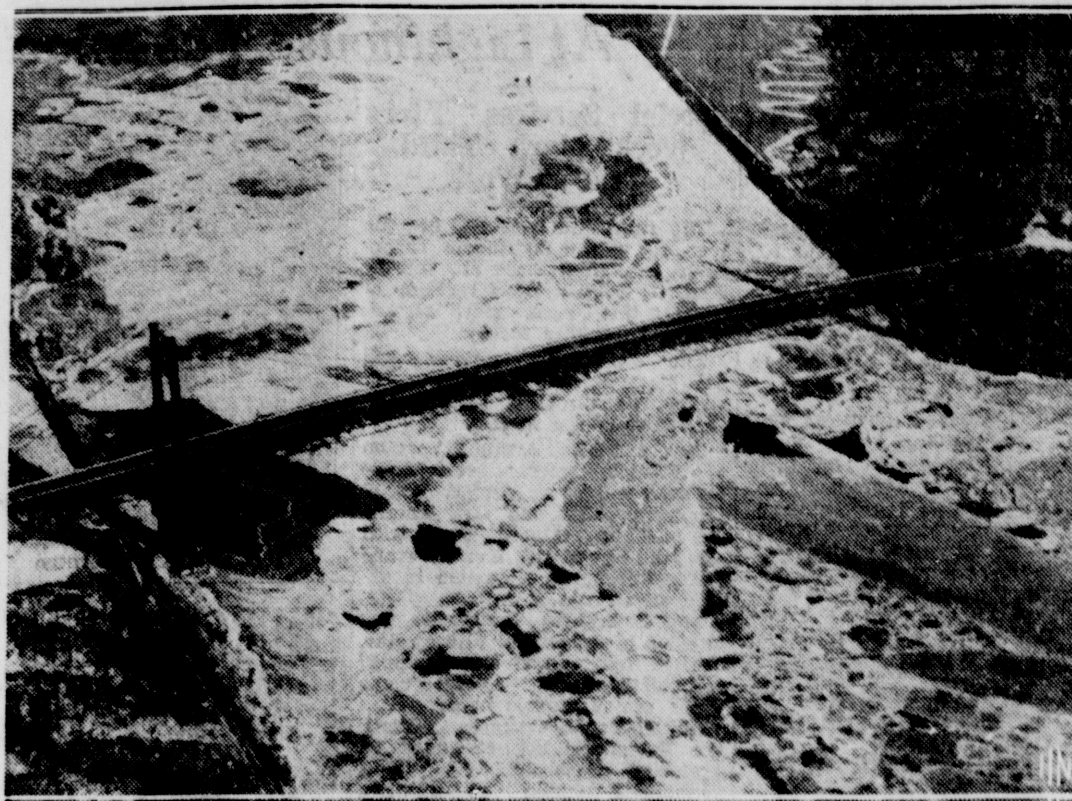

"Hello. You called me? How are you, Constance?"

She looked up and he looked into her eyes and knew! And suddenly his eyes, guarded a moment before, were alive and excited. He thought, "She doesn't love Gordon Keith anymore! She's gotten over it! That's what Donna kept saying—that she was infatuated, that she'd get over it if I'd be patient! Hold on, old boy. Don't let your hopes run away with you. But she isn't in love with him anymore! She's in love with me! With me!"

Constance said, "How am I, Terry? I could say the usual things. But I'd like...."

He could let her suffer. He had. He could let her suffer and let her find words to explain what had happened to her that she didn't love Gordon Keith any longer. But he couldn't bear it! He thought, "What do I care what happened as long as it's over? What do I care? I don't love her any

Westville Pastor

Nazarene Speaker

Choosing his text from the gospel of Luke, 19:10, Rev. L. V. Bennett, pastor of the Westville Christian church, addressed a large audience on the subject, "Christ's Ministry and Recovery" at the church of the Nazarene last night.

Rev. Bennett spoke before the largest crowd to attend any of the revival services which are being held nightly at the Nazarene church.

The revival series, which opened one week ago, will continue throughout this week with different ministers featured each night.

Emphasizing the tragedy of a lost soul, Rev. Bennett declared that men without Christ are lost. "They are lost to ideals, lost to hope and lost to heaven," he said.

The Westville pastor climaxed his message with the expression that God is seeking out the lost in the attempt to save them and restore their ideals and hope.

Highlights On Legislative Activities

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Representative James Seccombe (R-Ohio) finds the job he left and one of those he received in congress just about the same.

Seccombe resigned as mayor of Canton, O., to become the representative from the 16th Ohio district. He was given among other duties, a place on the house district committee which considers legislation for the district of Columbia.

"It's the same as being mayor," he said. He was named to subcommittees on fire, police and traffic problems.

One of his ambitions is to see more parking meters in Washington—a proposition he urged as mayor of Canton.

"You ought to be able to park for a nickel," he said. "Parking lots are just vacant land and encourage the destruction of buildings to lessen the tax rolls."

Representative Robert F. Jones, Republican, was among the few who voted against a measure to codify 34 volumes of internal revenue laws into 500 pages.

Jones, an attorney, said he did so because he "protested against passing such important measures without mature consideration and argument by the general membership of the house." The bill was passed after less than two and one-half hours of debate.

He said he agreed with "the general objectives to simplify and combine into one volume all of the internal revenue laws and to take out the obsolete statutes," but that he thought house experts "should go over the changes in terminology of the several statutes before they were passed."

Within a few hours of each other, Representative John M. Vorys,

Columbus Republican, received two groups of callers on national defense and foreign policy, and was surprised, he said, that both had the same fundamental views.

The first delegation was from Columbus, headed by Mrs. Florence Horschow, on the cause and cure of war. Next was a delegation from the conference on national defense, headed by Mrs. M. B. Chaffin of Columbus, chairman of the Franklin county council of the American Legion auxiliary.

"I thought they were going to be pacifists and militarists," said Vorys, "but what surprised me was that both organizations had the same fundamental aims in view and differed only in emphasis and method. Both were for peace, for national defense, against war, and both wondered what our foreign policy was and felt that it should be defined."

Berley Winton, in charge of poultry husbandry investigations for the agriculture department, said the 1939 World Poultry Congress to be held in Cleveland July 28 to August 7 should have a more scientific program than any other of the triennial sessions of the congress held so far.

He reported that scientists in 21 countries, and an official of the international institute of agriculture, have submitted titles of papers for the scientific program of the meeting. In addition to the United States, they were Bulgaria, Canada, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Ireland, Italy, Japan, Palestine, Poland, Roumania, Scotland, Union of South Africa, and Sweden.

The United States, he said, would be represented by scientists from 21 states, the agriculture and commerce departments and the farm credit administration.

Plan Anniversary Rites At Lighthouse Tabernacle

Special Services This Week Mark Third Year of Work

The third anniversary of the founding of the Lighthouse Tabernacle, 175 West State st., will be observed with a special series of services this week, Rev. M. R. pastor, announced today.

The anniversary services will start at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday and continue nightly through the remainder of the week.

Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Thornton of Kansas, veteran evangelistic workers, will be in charge. Special singing by Rev. and Mrs. Thornton will be featured along with the ministry of the Kansas evangelist. The public is invited to attend all services.

The Lighthouse Tabernacle was founded in January of 1936 by Rev. Searies, who rented and equipped the building which has since come to be the tabernacle home.

Started as an evangelistic effort, the Tabernacle has continued its work and established itself as a permanent church organization, affiliated with the Assemblies of God.

A constantly increasing congregation participates in every branch of church activity. The Tabernacle supports an organized Sunday school, a regular foreign mission program with monthly contributions, a young people's society, prayer meetings, worship services and evangelism.

With approximately 275 persons taking part, the congregations of the First Baptist and Presbyterian churches tied in a Bible quiz contest Sunday night in the auditorium of the Baptist church.

Each side missed only one question.

However, drawings were held and the Baptists won the right to meet the Christian church in another questions-and-answers game next Sunday night. This event also will be held in the Baptist church and the public is invited.

One hundred questions were fired in last night's quiz, being drawn from a bowl by Rev. S. T. Magann, Baptist minister. Rev. R. D. Walter of the Presbyterian church and Rev. C. F. Evans of the Christian church, acted as judges.

The Baptists were stumped when they were unable to complete the verse, taken from Psalms 118:24, which reads "This is the day which the Lord hath made." The contestants were to have added, "We will rejoice and be glad in it."

The Presbyterians missed this one. "What does the Proverbs say of one that saith he is rich?"

Answer: "That he hateth his son." Proverbs 13:24.

Bush, who described himself as a Jeffersonian Democrat.

"This is the first time in my 48 years of personal observation that I have seen a governor of Ohio actually roll up his sleeves and start saving the people's money," Bush said.

The Republican-led legislative mill prepared to grind away tonight at the $3,000,000 temporary relief bill containing provisions for dollar-for-dollar matching of state grants by local governments and distribution of funds on the basis of needs.

Senate leaders predicted early passage of the house-approved measure, which has withstood determined attempts of urban interests to increase the six-months' appropriation and to relax the matching requirement.

Legislation to enable communities hard-pressed for relief funds to obtain money for matching state grants through elimination of restrictions in their financial systems was expected to follow quickly in the path of the aid bill.

The list included, for Columbus county number first, requested loan of $100,000 for the purchase of a new car, and total cost third: Six grants, $328,552 and $725,670.

The county list included school proposals in Columbus, Clarkston, Moultrie and Wayne township, and a swimming pool at East Palestine.

The senate does not meet again until Wednesday. The house, although in session, expected to undertake little legislation before mid-week.

Revision of two major New Deal laws—social security and the National Labor Relations Act—will receive preliminary discussion this week. The senate labor committee will take up proposed AFL amendments to the labor act tomorrow.

These are designed to restrict the authority of the national labor relations board.

The house ways and means committee will begin a lengthy inquiry into proposed social security changes Wednesday. Committee members expect to hear old age pension advocates as well as administration proponents of expanding old age provisions of the present Social Security Act.

Debate On Radio

A taste of the labor board argument which the senate committee will hear came last night in a radio debate between Charles R. Hook, chairman of the National Association of Manufacturers, and Chairman J. Warren Madden of the labor board.

Madden denied Hook's assertion that "waves of strikes" followed the law's enactment. The measure, said Madden, had proved an effective instrument for industrial peace.

Hook, blaming labor disputes for the business recession in 1937 charged that labor difficulties that year "must go down as one of the major causes of the precipitous decline of business activity."

By administering the act differently, he asserted, the board "might have done much to convert a poor law into a reasonably good and fair law."

Madden argued that labor was still the "underdog" in labor disputes. Although 15 persons were killed during labor wars in 1937, scores wounded and thousands arrested, not a single employer, he said, "was even so much as arrested" in any year of the act's existence "though there was much violation of it."

The act has been successful, Madden declared, in that it had substituted "processes of law for the remedy of self help."

Five motorists were nabbed by Salem state highway policemen over the weekend, one on a charge of driving while intoxicated and the others on charges of reckless driving.

Megala Foreman of R. D. 1, Salem, the alleged drunken driver, was fined $75 and costs by Mayor George Wilson at Canfield and was committed to jail for failure to pay the fine.

He was arrested by Corp. W. E. Aray and Patrolman R. H. Opp Saturday night on Route 62, just south of Canfield.

The reckless drivers, three of them driving coal trucks, included Jesse Mercure and Kenneth Wilson of New Waterford, fined $10 and costs each by Mayor Cope at Rogers; Lowell E. Houch of East Palestine, fined $10 and costs by Justice W. E. Rose at Austin; and Lawrence A. Kunar of Cleveland, fined $25 and costs by Justice M. K. Zimmerman at Lisbon.

Entire Family Finds Fun And Health In Bowling At E. L. Grate Alleys

WOMEN LEARN TO TOPPLE PINS

Plenty of Facilities Available At Recreation Drives

Bowling in the Salem district, has become much more than merely something which takes dad to the Grate Recreation alleys, S. Ellisworth ave., once or twice a week. The great indoor pastime of toppling the maples has become innumerable instances, a delight for the entire family.

Some of the old timers have been bowling at the Grate alleys in regular league competition for quite a while. But now the family has taken it up.

Mother and Children

Until mother and even the children found out what fun it is, bowling for quite a while was just a way for dad to keep his winter waistline down and forget his troubles for an hour or two.

Earl Grate, proprietor of the Recreation alleys, points out that bowling has changed much from what it used to be, as a result of the family angle.

Increased facilities this year, through the addition of three alleys upstairs at the Grate plant, have made it possible for more and more to enjoy the great winter sport. There are six alleys on the second floor.

There are three 12-team tenpin leagues in operation at the Recreation alleys, one 8-team duckpin loop and one 6-team ladies' tenpin circuit.

However, there is plenty of time for the bowlers who do not have the opportunity to perform regularly with the league teams. Every Saturday the upstairs alleys are open to the public. They are also available every afternoon and on Tuesday and Friday nights from 9 to 12.

The three downstairs alleys are available to the general public at any time.

Exercise and Fun

No healthier winter exercise for the person who spends most of the day inside can be had. And there's lots of fun there, too. Many a bowling party, among both men and women, has been staged this season at the Grate Recreation alleys.

Take a friend or two to the Grate alleys, or any group of guests, for that matter. Arrangements can be made over the telephone, anytime.

CLEAN CLOTHES MEAN ECONOMY

Life of Garment May Be Extended To Cover Another Season

Coal costs and cleaning costs go hand in hand during the murky, smoky, sooty days of winter.

Buying good coal aids greatly in eliminating waste and reducing expenditures in the basement department of the home establishment.

An! keeping of thing well cleaned, through the medium of the Paris Cleaners, is an aid to economy in this particular phase of daily life.

Some folks look at the cost of cleaning, particularly during the winter season when dirt is accumulated so easily, and fail to consider the fact that well-kept garments will last months and months longer than clothing which is neglected.

Cleaning extends the life of the garment. It removes the tiny particles of grit and dirt, unseen to the naked eye, usually, and thereby cut down the wear which goes on and on.

Consequently, the life of the garment may be extended to cover another season as the result of judicious cleaning and that spells economy in the language of any household.

The Paris is equipped in every department with the latest in machinery and methods to clean garments of any kind so that you know when you send clothing there that a first-class job is guaranteed.

DE SOTO MAKERS STRESS VISION

"Charlie McCarthy" In Factory Tests Shows Increased Visibility

Even the auto engineers have their Charlie McCarthy these days. "Charlie," as the engineers call their dummy, is the latest development for determining the angle of visibility of windshields, it is disclosed by the Harris garage, Salem dealer.

Sitting behind the steering wheel of a 1939 DeSoto in a dark room at the Chrysler corporation engineering laboratories, "Charlie" looks through the windshield. His eyes, two small electric bulbs, throw light through the windshield and side windows, outlining them on a huge white screen that is placed at a certain distance in front of the car. The screen, which is marked off in degrees for accurate measurements, thus reveals just how much the average driver can see through the windshield, and by taking the measure of the light that falls on the screen, the engineers are able to compute the exact angles and areas of visibility provided.

On the 1939 DeSoto, according to the engineers, "Charlie" shows that the area visible through the windshield has been increased almost 20 per cent.

The increased area of the DeSoto windshield has been largely responsible for this broader sweep of vision, DeSoto engineers report. To provide motorists with better visibility, the area of the windshield was increased 123.2 square inches over the big windshield of the 1938 models. The new windshield is four inches wider and one and one-half inches higher.

To approximate average conditions, "Charlie" is weighted down with 150 pounds of lead weights, and his eyes, in relation to the windshield, are placed in the same position as the average driver's eyes. Thus the angle of visibility determined in tests made with "Charlie" represents the same angle of visibility that would result from tests made with an average person.

WILLYS CHIEF GOES TO WORK

Joseph W. Frazer Takes Over Job As Plant President

TOLEDO, Jan. 30.—Joseph W. Frazer, a man who had a large part in the development of the low priced automobile market, has assumed his new duties as president of the historic Willys Overland company.

Frazer said he came to Toledo and his new job because he is convinced the kind of car which is being produced at the Willys Overland plant has a tremendous future.

"I was with Walter P. Chrysler," Frazer said, "when he took the Maxwell motor car from a remote position in the industry to the very forefront of volume production. It was one of the most interesting experiences of my life and now I see application filed for release from administration of Walter R. Czech's estate, East Liverpool.

Frazer jumped into his new job at Toledo with both feet. No sooner had he completed his deal to take over the Willys-Overland presidency than he was "raring" to go at the task he had cut out for himself.

He quickly shed a long list of titles and duties which he carried as a Chrysler executive in Detroit, packed his bag and came to the Willys-Overland plant.

One of his first acts at Willys-Overland was to order himself an Overland sedan and to start driving it himself.

"My enthusiasm for this automobile has grown tremendously since I have become an owner and driver," Frazer said today. "It didn't take me long to convince myself that a car of this size and type fills a very definite motoring need."

"It's easy to park, easy to handle in traffic, comfortable, safe and good looking, but above all it is economical to own and inexpensive to operate, what more could a fellow ask?"

MASSILLON IS NEXT FOE FOR QUAKER QUINT

Brown's Charges Defeat Youngstown Chaney In One-Sided Fray

One of the toughest games of the 1938-39 basketball season lies in wait this week for Coach Herb Brown's Salem High school Quakers, who snapped a two-game losing streak last Saturday night by walloping Youngstown Chaney, 43 to 17.

The Quakers will face the strong Massillon Tigers in their lone game of the week, meeting the Stark county champions Friday night on the Massillon High school floor.

Rated as one of the strongest teams in Ohio, the Tigers have won eight and lost two games to date. Their record includes victories over several of the district's outstanding teams.

Little opposition was offered the Quakers last Saturday night as they defeated Youngstown Chaney for their sixth victory in 10 games.

The Chaney team was the weakest to appear on the local floor in recent years and one of the poorest ever turned out by the Youngstown school. The Saturday night defeat was its 10th in 13 starts.

The Chaney cagers employed a zone defense against the Quakers, but it was in no way comparable to the tight Warren zone which stopped the Salem lads cold on Friday night.

The Quakers were able to penetrate the Chaney zone practically at will and collected 16 field goals in romp to the one-sided victory. They attempted 49 shots from the field during the contest.

Poor passing and sloppy ball-handling kept Chaney from presenting a dangerous offense. The Youngstown team used a fast break, but their attack was spoiled frequently by wild passing and erratic floor work.

In a vain attempt to keep pace with the Quakers, the Chaney cagers shot wildly at the basket from any angle. They took 42 shots from the field, but connected on only six.

Coach Brown used every member of his varsity squad, giving the second stringers plenty of action. Among the subs who broke into the lineup was Mike Oana, who completed his scholastic athletic career in the game. Oana is ineligible for further scholastic competition because he has been in high school eight semesters.

Eight of the 10 players who saw action for the Quakers broke into the scoring line. Coach Dunlap leading the point-making by cutting four field goals and two free throws for 10 points. Les Knepp contributed eight points to the Quakers total, while Galen Duncan collected seven markers and Dinty McLaughlin six.

McLaughlin was forced to take it easy during the time he was in the game due to an injured knee he received in the Warren game Friday night.

The Quakers piled up eight points in the first period before Chaney broke into the scoring. The Youngstown cagers collected three points in the late minutes of the opening frame to trail 8 to 3 when the first quarter ended.

Holding Chaney to five points in the second frame, the Quakers added nine points to their total to increase their lead to 17 to 8 at halftime.

The Youngstown team fell far behind in the third quarter, scoring only one point while the Quakers were making 15. The Salem lads led 32 to 9 at the end of the third frame.

With the Salem reserves in action most of the final period, Chaney outscored the Quakers, eight points to five.

Demonstrating that their performance in making 27 out of 25 free throws against Warren was no fluke, the Quakers converted 11 of 15 charity shots against Chaney. The Youngstown cagers made only five of 15 free throws.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Various Spots

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Hot stove league: The Cardinals have asked waivers on Pepper Martin—with no takers.... Chuck Dessen will collect $10,000 for coaching the Dodgers—more than is paid any other major league coach except Arthur Fisher of the Yankees....

For 30 consecutive days in Bermuda Lefty Gomez played 18 holes of golf in the morning and nine innings of baseball in the afternoon.... He was the star first sacker of the Bermudian Hotel Bulldogs.... Niftiest big league roster to hit this desk to date is the one put out by the Cincinnati Reds.

When baseball practice starts at Indiana this week, Coach Paul Harrell will have three sons of former big leaguers on his squad.... They are Johnny Corriden, son of Red Corriden, coach of the Chicago Cubs; Vic Aldridge, Jr., son of the former Pittsburgh and Chicago pitcher; and Jimmy Middleton, son of the former major league twirler.

Cauliflower alley: To get Tony Galento for an outdoor fight this summer, Mike Jacobs is going to have to send both Henry Armstrong and Fred Apostoli to Philly to fight for Herman Taylor.... Eddie Meade, Armstrong's manager, is negotiating with Archie Moore, St. Louis middleweight.... Ernie Veigh, Newburgh, N. Y., middleweight, has the boys around here talking with 13 straight kayos.

Professional notes: Young Ray Howe of the Charlotte (N. C.) News sports staff, is in town to see his sweetie pie.... Stanley Frank of the Evening Post has a swell basketball yarn in a current weekly mag.

Gayle Talbot, the AP star has headed for Florida to warm up for baseball by doing a few golf tournaments.... Frank Grayson of the Cincinnati Times-Star is setting a wicked pace for the boys covering the doings of the hot stove league.... Clyde McBride of the Kansas City Star went to the coast to cover the Rose Bowl game and hasn't come back yet.

Sports cocktail: Vines tells southern sports writers his arms are giving out on him.... Ed Barrow, new president of the Yankees, was quite an amateur boxer in his younger days and once was talked of as an opponent for John L. Sullivan in an exhibition match.... Charlie Brickley, the old Harvard star, is afraid his son (who shows signs of being quite a drop kicker) will cross him up and enter a southern school.... Joe DiMaggio is in demand as a speaker in San Francisco (but now that Gehrig and Gomez have signed) he'll find time to hot foot it for the postoffice and mail his contract calling for $25,000 per.

RESERVES GAIN TENTH VICTORY

Salem Subs Take Youngstown Chaney Reserves By 26-21 Score

Posting their 10th victory in 11 games, Salem High school reserves defeated Youngstown Chaney reserves, 26 to 21, at the local gym Saturday night.

Jumping into an early lead, the Salem subs continued to hold the advantage throughout the game. The defeat was the 10th the Chaney reserves have suffered in 11 games.

Minus the services of Mike Thomas, who has been moved up to the varsity squad, the Quaker subs encountered some difficulty in breaking through a zone defense set up by Chaney.

The Salem lads connected on the long shots in the first quarter to take a 7 to 4 lead. The teams played even in the second period, making two field goals apiece. Chaney rallied in the third period to slice the Salem lead to one point, but the rally was cut short in the fourth frame when Salem again moved far out in front.

Jimmy Kleon led the Salem scoring with 11 points, while Williams paced Chaney point-making with a like number of counters.

OHIO COLLEGE LEAGUE RACES GROW TIGHTER

"Make-or-Break" Schedule This Week Features 30 Games

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Jan. 30.—Ohio's collegiate basketball teams will battle for blue chips this week as they stage a 30-game program, with the leadership of the state-wide, Buckeye, Ohio and Western conference standings riding on the results.

The "make-or-break" schedule calls for nine Ohio conference titles, one of each in the Big Ten and Buckeye, and 17 with out-of-state foes.

Leading the list is the Ohio-Minnesota clash at Minneapolis Saturday, with the Western conference lead going to the victor. The Bucks and Gophers are deadlocked in first place now with four wins and one defeat.

Wooster, state-wide leader with 10 wins and a single loss, enters the second-place Ashland Eagles Saturday in another crucial tilt. The Eagles have won nine and lost one. Wooster's seven-game Ohio loop winning streak also is menaced in that one.

The other Saturday top-notchers send Case, second place in the conference with four straight victories, against Wittenberg at Springfield. The Lutherans, defending league champs, are in a challenging position with four out of five, after losing the opener to Marietta.

Here's the week's slate:
Monday: Miami at Xavier, Marietta at St. Bonaventure.
Tuesday: Toledo at George Washington, Findlay at Ohio Northern, Hiram at Mount Union, Bowling Green at Defiance, Baldwin Wallace at Ohio Wesleyan, Wittenberg at Dayton.
Wednesday: Marietta at Niagara, Westminster at Youngstown.
Thursday: Ashland at Capital, Wilberforce at Wilmington.
Friday: Denison at Mount Union, Wooster at Bowling Green, Case at Muskingum, Ohio Northern at Wittenberg, Illinois Wesleyan at Akron, Grove City at Hiram, Findlay at Bluffton, Youngstown at Chippewas, Marietta at Buffalo, Indiana at Xavier and Oberlin at Hobart.
Saturday: Ohio State at Minnesota, Ohio U. at Miami, Heidelberg at Otterbein, Ashland at Wooster, Denison at Wittenberg, Alumni at Denison, DePaul at Toledo, Ohio Wesleyan at Western Reserve, Lawrence Tech at John Carroll, Grove City at Penn, Marietta at Washington & Jefferson, Bluffton at Cedarville, Cincinnati at Dayton, Wilmington at Morehead, Kanawha at Rio Grande and Oberlin at Rochester.

First-Place Ties Feature Big Ten and Big Six Loops

By HUGH S. KULLERTON, Jr.
NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Since basketball strength is so well distributed that even a standout team seldom gets through a season unbeaten, it isn't likely any of the major college conference races will be settled for another month or more. Nevertheless there's decisive action scheduled this week in practically all of the major circuits.

A few mid-western teams last week defied the unwritten rule that there can't be any important games while mid-year examinations are going on and the main results were

BAPTISTS' NEAR CLASS C TITLE

Record 6th Straight Win By Beating Trinity Lutherans, 28-21

The Baptists moved a step nearer the first half championship of the city Class C basketball league at the Memorial building Saturday afternoon, defeating the Trinity Lutherans, 28 to 21, for their sixth straight victory.

E. Miller and Baskley starred in the Baptists' triumph, the former scoring 10 points and the latter nine. McGaffick collected 12 points for the Lutherans.

The Emmanuel Lutherans chalked up their fourth victory in five games by spanking the Methodists, 29 to 11, with Spack pacing the winners with eight points.

The Presbyterians suffered their fifth straight setback in losing to the Christians, 32 to 19. Beck led the Christians to the victory by scoring 11 points. Rice tallied seven points for the losers.

Gaining their fourth win in six games, the Carroll Cubs roared out the Friends, 16 to 14. McGhee led the Cubs in scoring with eight points, while G. Antonio was high for the Friends with seven markers.

Happiness, Tragedy In Stories Of 2 Fires

Six Die at Cincinnati; Child Is Hero In Virginia Home Blaze

(By Associated Press)
CINCINNATI, Jan. 30.—Charred rafters of a four-room cottage stood as evidence today of a fire tragedy which snuffed out the lives of a family of six at nearby Newtown.

The dead, all trapped in the flames which quickly enveloped their home early yesterday, were Everett Frost, 32 section foreman for the Norfolk and Western railroad; his wife, Gladys, 28, and their four children, Ernest, 11, Eugene, 9, Velma, 4 and Kenneth, nine months.

Crooner Frank M. Coppock, Jr., after an autopsy on the bodies of the parents, said the family died of suffocation. He said he would return a verdict of accidental death today. Origin of the blaze was undetermined.

The village siren calling volunteer firemen to the scene was rung after Mildred Mueller, a neighbor, was awakened by the cries of one of the children.

Firemen reported they believed all occupants of the home had escaped until Jerry Hard, a volunteer, called out as he was fighting the flames.

"There's somebody in there. It looks like the body of one of the boys."

Hard said it was the body of Eugene, who was sleeping alone in the combination living and bedroom where Fire Chief Chris Binder reported the flames started.

Pressing further into the inferno, firemen came upon the bodies of Mrs. Frost kneeling at the crib of the infant Kenneth in an adjoining room.

"Apparently she struggled to get near the child but was strangled by the smoke," Binder said.

The bodies of the father, Ernest and Velma were found in the ruins of another bedroom. Binder reported Ernest apparently had been trapped behind a table in his efforts to escape from the smoke.

The parents had been visiting neighbors and returned at midnight, deputies learned. The flames were discovered at 3 a. m.

The family came here two years ago from Rarden, in Scioto county, where relatives said their bodies would be returned for burial.

CHARGES JUDGE RECEIVED MONEY

District Attorney Dewey Accuses U. S. District Judge

The case. A two-thirds vote of the senate is required to remove from office.
An investigation by the department of justice into the affairs of Judge Manton was announced in Washington Saturday by Attorney General Frank Murphy.

The 58-year-old jurist, appointed to his present post in 1918 by President Wilson, as senior member of the appeals court is out-ranked in the nation's judicial hierarchy only by the nine members of the supreme court.

Informed of Dewey's accusations, Judge Manton said he had known for some time that the district attorney's office was looking into his affairs, and added:

"I will make no comment now. I will wait until I have read the full text of Mr. Dewey's letter to the house committee."

Summary of Charges
A summary of Dewey's charges follows:

1. $52,000 received from agents of Dictograph Products corporation in December, 1936, and January, 1937, while his appeal of a patent case was pending. It won the appeal, with Judge Manton's vote decisive, and a month later paid an additional $25,000.

2. $232,981 received from representatives of American Tobacco Co. in 1932 when a stockholder's suit for recovery of corporation funds was pending. A divided verdict in favor of the Tobacco company with Judge Manton's vote again decisive.

3. $37,500 from John L. Litsch, Brooklyn banker, in 1935, including a $200,000 loan which "other banks had refused to make" to a Manton-owned firm. Litsch was subsequently cleared in Judge Manton's court of a pending extortion charge.

4. $50,000 from Harry M. Walker, executive of Warner Brothers Pictures, in 1935 between the hearing of arguments and a decision in Judge Manton's court in a patent case won by the Warner firm. All but $10,000 repaid.

Two other transactions not involving actual litigants in Judge Manton's court were among the six listed in Dewey's letter. They were:

1. $12,000 from John McGrath in Dec. 1937, after he had received $32,000 in fees as a bankruptcy trustee, a post to which he was appointed after having been recommended by Judge Manton.

2. $10,000 from an insurance broker in 1934 on representations by Judge Manton that he would receive the insurance business of King's Brewery, a firm in which the judge's business partner, James J. Sullivan, was a trustee under the bankruptcy act. It was repaid when the broker failed to get the business.

TOLEDO—A new way to grease pans before they receive dough enroute to the oven—spray the butter on with paint-spraying equipment. Large Toledo bakeries use locally-made paint-spraying apparatus for their pan-greasing and report that an advantage of the method is accurate control.

WANTED—Man between age of 25 and 45 as private secretary, must understand bookkeeping and able to type a bit. Must be able to meet the public and have car. Initial pay $75 per month and car allowance. Good opportunity for advancement. Write P. O. Box 235, Salem, Ohio.

Unlike the victims of the Cincinnati tragedy, these two youngsters are alive today and Clifford Morris, 5, stands out as a hero because he saved three from fire which destroyed the Morris home at Sanick, Va., near St. Charles.
Clifford, in photo above, holds his baby brother, Jerry, to show how he carried the child from the burning home. The boy hero made three trips into the flames to rescue Jerry, another younger brother, and a younger sister.
